G. A. MORSE

TALENT, OREGON.

For Representative to the Legislature from Jackson County.

I believe strictly in the principles of the progressive party and also the prohibition party, which I think goes just one step farther.

In the absolute protection of labor without impairment of the rights of capital.

The strict regulation of all trusts. In the suffrage for women on the same terms as men.

In the strict prohibition of the manufacture of liquor in any form. I believe in liberal appropriations for Oregon enterprises where they will be of state-wide benefit.

Good roads legislation must be enacted whereby counties or communities can have as good roads as desired, and in a way that they can get the most for their money.

I believe the people are supreme and their wish should control.

Statement No. 1 should be carried out.

PORTLAND EXHIBITS ROOSEVELT PRAISES

D. M. Lowe Gives Information in regard to Exhibits for Land Products Show.

We want to reproduce Mt. Ashland in apples if growers will furnish the fruit. Want two boxes of Grimes Golden, Greasy Pippin or Ortley, and one box of Arkansas Black to make the trail.

Pack four box lots of any standard variety. Top tier should not be wrapped, should be diagonal pack and put on check to score highest. Give us plate exhibits, five to the plate of all kinds. You can't lose anything. Help advertise Ashland. Your box fruit will be sold if you so desire and money returned to you, or be sent to the east on road exhibition.

Give us pears and peaches and onions, some large mangewurtzels (three). The Ashland Ice & Storage Company has always done its part willingly, and am sure will take such as will spoil. Put all apples in a cool, damp place. Notify the secretary of the Commercial Club of your wants and we will do all we can to assist you.

I am giving my time and nearly a ton of products. The Commercial Club has put up the money to carry forward the exhibits, so boost by giving of the best you have. Be a live one and let the Portland Land Show know Ashland is on the map.

Potatoes, any variety but Early Rose, Late Rose, Blue Centennial, in 20-pound lots of smooth, even tubers, as near one size as possible, washed or packed in straw or paper.

If you have any fine grapes, pack them in sawdust, put in cool place and they will keep. Want 20 pounds of black oats and 20 pounds of beardless barley. Exhibits must be ready by November 11 and delivered at the Produce Association's building by that time.

Walnuts and almonds will help the exhibit. Want three large head of cabbage, sewed in burlap or a sack. For instructions see the Commercial Club secretary. All those making box exhibits for premium must let us know by November 5 as entries close in Portland on November 10.

We have a new prize offered which is too late to get in premium list. It is a handsome silver cup offered by the Northern Pacific railway for the best bushel of dent corn grown along the lines of the Northern Pacific, Spokane, Portland & Seattle, the Oregon Trunk, Oregon Electric, and United Railways. So if any of the farmers in your vicinity desire to enter, they can send it along.

A Ready Letter Writer in Pursuit of a Wife.

A Rogue River valley citizen, not unknown to the elite of Ashland, is, through the kind offices of an uncle, investigating the chances of "attaching himself" to a cultured and very desirable young lady living in "proud Massachusetts." The writer certainly has the gift of facetiously and unreservedly "declaring himself," as the following letter abundantly testifies, "Faint heart never won fair lady," and the Rogue river gentleman accepts this truism with unquestioning innocence.

The Outspoken Epistle.

"Dear Mdlle: Your uncle, for whose farseeing mind and moral attributes I have profound respect, informs me that you are matrimonially inclined and for some time have been looking, far and near, for the man with brown eyes and a good understanding. I think from the particulars furnished me that I am your man and that all that is necessary to reach the goal of bright anticipations is to open a correspondence along those lines of mutual trust and confidence which will cause our friends 'to sit up and take notice' that there is 'music in the air.'"

"I understand from your uncle that you have been indoctrinated in those principles which make for goodness, greatness and the promotion of that domestic bliss without which this world would be little better than a dreary wilderness. It would ill become me, in this preliminary center to dilate upon personal makeups which I am sure a woman of your fine qualities would hardly fail to appreciate, but may I not venture upon the modest assertion that, along this entire Pacific coast country, I am widely known for my gallantry to woman (God bless her!), my disposition to shed radiant light wherever I roam, with the ability of providing abundantly for the physical and aesthetic well-being of the woman ready to accept me, through life, as her guardian angel."

"May I ask for an early response to this communication, in order to 'size up' the situation before looking for other pebbles on the beach?"

"Anticipatingly and sincerely yours,

W. S. M."

Progressive Leader Just Before Shooting Gave Strong Endorsement to Senator Bourne.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 18.—Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon, independent candidate for re-election, today made public a lengthy telegram from Colonel Theodore Roosevelt dated Chicago, October 12, in which Roosevelt denied allegations that Bourne acted in the interests of the Standard Oil people during his administration. The telegram was dispatched two days before Roosevelt was shot at Milwaukee and stated that Bourne in arranging interviews between the chief executive and John D. Archbold and other representatives of the interests without use of intermediaries was doing a great public service.

"You asked for the right to arrange such interviews as did other congressmen of high character," the telegram states. "It was often necessary for me to arrange direct interviews with Archbold and others, and in effecting the same for me you were doing a service for the whole country. I doubted the sincerity of Archbold, and this made the interviews with him necessary."

The telegram goes on to praise Bourne for his peculiar fitness for the particular post designated and his character as a public official. The telegram is directly contradictory to certain statements made recently by ex-United States Senator Fulton that Bourne acted in the interests of the Standard Oil Company.

GIVEN HOSECART RIDE.

Medford Bridal Couple Given Unique Greeting.

Medford, Oct. 29.—To be tied with ropes to the seat of a hosecart and then paraded all over town while their friends cheered and snap-shotted them from every corner, is the experience Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Metzger are recovering from today.

Metzger is a member of the local fire department and immediately after the ceremony several of his colleagues "kidnapped" the couple and seated them on the flower-bedecked hosecart, securing them there with ropes.

Then the parade commenced to the Palace of Sweets, the whole town turning out to see the fun. At the refreshment stand the bridegroom bought cigars for the crowd, and the bride was given all the goodies she could eat by the gang.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Adds Healthful Qualities to the Food

Prof. Prescott, of the University of Michigan, testified before the Pure Food Committee of Congress, that the acid of grapes held highest rank as an article of food and he regarded the results from baking with cream of tartar baking powder as favorable to health.

Royal is the only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

Can a Hog Swim?

The question of whether or not a hog can swim without cutting his throat is going the rounds of the western press, and is even breaking into the high-brow columns of some of the eastern newspapers. Evidence on both sides has been adduced, but the supporters of the theory that a hog has no natatorial ability are in the minority, and hence may be set down as nature fakers. The facts are that a hog can swim, and without danger to its jugular vein, too, although very fat animals attempting the feat injure themselves with the sharp hoofs of their forefeet. The hog that cuts its throat while negotiating a stream may safely be put down as belonging to that category in which the naturalist places the hoop snake. Nobody ever saw a hoop snake, although the illusion of rolling created by the blacksnake in proceeding at a rapid rate of speed by a series of loops is probably responsible for the yarns which have sprung up about this reptile.

Writing to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, one correspondent states that he has seen a sow and six pigs swim a rapid stream without injury to themselves; while another writer to the same paper recites that a hog which he once saw swimming the River Thames left a trail of blood as a result of cutting its throat with its hoofs. Two correspondents of the Syracuse Post-Standard tell of instances of swimming feats by porcine animals. Any country boy in Virginia knows that hogs can cross streams by swimming. Just why a hog should want to do it cannot, of course, be stated with accuracy. Probably it has the same object that a hen has in crossing a road.—Washington Post.

A fence can be made cat proof by stringing a tight wire about two inches above and parallel to the top.

Flies can enter a garbage can that a New York man has patented, but as they try to get out they are caught in a wire trap, which can be detached and the insects destroyed.

Laborers are much wanted in the nitrate fields of Chile and in railway construction.

Miss Caroline Van Nice

Prohibition Nominee for County Superintendent of Schools.

Election officials have ruled that Miss Van Nice's name could not be placed upon the ballot because of her sex, but state that if elected and the woman suffrage amendment carries she will be eligible to the office. She asks all her friends and those believing in the political equality of women write her name in on the ballot. [Paid advertisement.]

WHY Congressman Hawley

SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED TO CONGRESS

Because he surpasses all opposing candidates in ability, experience and qualifications.
Because his every interest is in Oregon, where he was born, and he knows every interest of her people.
Because he annually travels thousands of miles over the district to learn the needs of his constituents and has secured millions of dollars for our benefit, besides aiding veterans, public land entrymen and others.
Because he has been a faithful servant of all of the people and not a favored few, and in national affairs has reached a position of influence so that Presidents Taft and Roosevelt, his associates of all parties and constituents generally praise him in terms similar to those used by Governor West, who said in an interview after a visit to the national capital: "In intellect, oratorical ability and devotion to the interests of the people, Hawley stands head and shoulders above the great majority of the members of the National House of Representatives." (Paid Adv. Congressional Committee, First District.)
